Territorial planning

According to the Vilnius City General Plan, the land plot falls into the XXX-2-3 functional zone ("Low-density residential zone"):

The following building regulations apply in this zone:

The Vilnius City General Plan designates the land plot as a residential zone. This means that you can build a residential house on it. Theoretically, buildings with an area of no more than 800 sq. m can be built on this land plot. Of course, it is essential to note that the actual area of the land plot that can be built may be smaller, taking into account other restrictions applied to it (more on this below).
